Where Great Mountain Ranges Meet
(Karakoram, Himalayas and Hindu Kush)

In an area of about 500 kms in width and 350 kms in depth is found the most dense collection of some of the highest and precipitous peaks in the world Pakistan is home to 108 peaks above 7,000 meters and probably as many peaks above 6,000 m. There is no count of the peaks above 5,000 and 4,000 m. Five of the 14 highest independent peaks in the world (the eight-thousands) are in Pakistan (four of which lie in the surroundings of Concordia; the confluence of Baltoro Glacier and Godwin Austen Glacier) namely the second highest rock pyramid the K-2 (8611 m), the killer mountain Nanga Parbat (8126 m), the Hidden Peak, Gasherbrum (8068 m), the Broad Peak (8047 m) and the Gasherbrum II (8035 m). Most of the highest peaks in Pakistan lie in Karakoram Range (which lies almost entirely in the Gilgit-Baltistan of Pakistan, but some peaks above 7,000 m are included in the Himalayan and Hindukush ranges). This enormous mountain wealth makes Pakistan an important mountain country, offering the paradise of opportunities for mountaineering and mountain related adventure activities. The compelling charm of these high, challenging, endless sea of rugged rock and ice pinnacles lure large number of climbers, adventure seekers and nature lovers from across the five continents to the Gilgit-Baltistan and Chitral, each year.

Holy Land of Buddhism - Gandhara Buddhist Pilgrimage Tours Arrangements

Pakistan, the crucible of many cultures and civilization from the stone age sites to the British era has historical remains scattered all over the country. However the most popular are the Indus valley civilizations. Almost all the major museums of the world have pieces of Gandhara art exhibited in their Galleries. Gandhara was an ancient state, a mahajanapada, in the Peshawar basin, The Land of Fragrance Gandhara was the holy land of Buddhism. Gandhara was a major center of Buddhism in the Indian subcontinent from the 3rd century BCE to approximately 1200 CE.

Buddhism reached Gandhara (Pakistan) in 3rd century BC during the time of King Ashoka, he called the third council of Buddhism and sent Buddhist monks throughout his kingdom. After him king Kanishka one the prominent king of Kushan dynasty patronized Buddhism in Gandhara he called the fourth council of Buddhism (most probably in Peshawar, the second ancient capital of Gandhara). He also introduced a new sect of Buddhism known as Mahayana Buddhism and thus Gandhara Buddhist art was started in Gandhara, the aim this art was to propagate Buddhism.

GANDHARA TRAIL

Gandhara is the name of an ancient kingdom (Mahajanapada), located in modern day northern Pakistan and parts of eastern Afghanistan. Gandhara was located mainly in the vale of Peshawar, the Potohar plateau and on the Kabul River. Its main cities were Purushapura (modern Peshawar), literally meaning "City of Man", Varmayana (modern Bamyan) and Takshashila (modern Taxila). The Kingdom of Gandhara lasted from the early 1st millennium BC to the 11th century AD. It attained its height from the 1st century to the 5th century under the Buddhist Kushan Kings

Among them are the Dharmarajika Stupa in Takht-i-Bahi, Khyber Pakhtunkhwa, the Votive Stupa, Shingardar Stupa, the Amluk Dara Stupa situated in Taxila (previously Takshashila), and an iconic Buddha statue in Swat. Bamala in Khyber Pakhtunkhwa has emerged as a major Buddhist heritage site after the remains of a 1700-year-old sleeping Buddha statue were discovered there.

Flair Travel & Holidays Green

We believe, more than ever, in the importance of having an effective Green Travel program as part of our overall Travel management program. While business travel is necessary, there are now a number of effective ways to take all those miles traveled by your organization and transform it into carbon offset funds used to tame the climate crisis the world faces.

The International Air Transport Association (IATA) set a goal of creating a zero emissions airplane within 50 years. The European Union plans to implement an emissions cap and trading system for airlines by 2012.

Although the whole issue of air travel and the environment has become the subject of enormous scrutiny recently, there are times when flying is simply the only practical way to travel. Even though much of the criticism leveled at aviation applies fairly generally to the industry as a whole, all airlines are not the same and in certain aspects some are more eco-friendly than others. While it is not always easy or, indeed, possible to pick and choose your carrier, sometimes the opportunity will arise for the eco-friendly traveler to make that choice but how do you go about making that decision?

We've rounded up the most eco-friendly airlines for details kindly visit our website www.flair.com.pk
